CONGRESSIONAL.

House.

WASHINGTON March 16

The house decided to limit debate to [illegible] minutes and then went into committee of the whole upon the bill for payment of southern mail contractors

Waddell hoped it would be recommitted and the objections obviated He objected to Conger's recent statement that the democrats must have known of the legislation by which contractors were paid by the confederacy that was a minor matter

Eden moved to strike out the enacting clause agreed to and the committee rose and reported the action of the house

The previous question was seconded and the main question ordered on concurrence with the recommendations of the committee

A motion to reconsider the vote ordering the main question was defeated by 131 to 78

The report of the committee was then agreed to and the enacting clause struck out

Conger said that he thought it strange that none of the democrats, though some of them were members of the confederate house had not known that 14 of the 15 claims on file now were paid by the confederacy

The house then went into committee of the whole on private bills

Thursday next was set for the bill to refund the national debt

McGARRAHAN vs NEW IDRIA

Argument Before the Committee of the U S Senate

WASHINGTON March 16—In argument of the McGarrahan case before the senate committee Jere M Wilson for McGarrahan made the point that the New Idria Company and McGarrahan separately claimed land and that Gould was counsel for the company as well as for the United States and fought McGarrahan under the American flag

Judge Black remarked that under circumstances Gould could not work for one without necessarily working against the other

Shaw—We claim that being employed by both the government and the New Idria Company the service was inconsistent

Judge Wilson said Gould appeared for the government, whose interests were identical with those who opposed McGarrahan's claim

Attorney General Bates speaking of Gould said no gentleman ever represented the government more honorably than he did

Shaw at some length sought to show that Judge Black while acting as attorney general, had full knowledge that an appeal had been duly taken when he made the motion in the supreme court to revoke the mandate of the supreme court in favor of McGarrahan basing his motion on the ground that there had been no appeal

Judge Wilson saw no use in discussing these questions as the supreme court had decided on the merits of the case

The question having arisen as to letters and papers produced by the New Idria Company Judges Black and Wilson said they would put a witness on the stand to show from whose possession they were taken

Ingersoll for McGarrahan asked whether they would not give to his side the information so they might prove such further information as they required and defend the innocent and condemn the guilty

Judge Wilson replied they would take pleasure in doing so

Ingersoll called Judge Wilson's attention to the fact that he had made a misquotation from one of McGarrahan's letters when Judge Wilson replied if he did so it was, of course unintentional and he would examine into the matter

Jeremiah M Wilson referring to Judge Wilson's remark that he and his associate in this case would produce a witness to show where the McGarrahan letters and papers came from reminded Judge Wilson of the fact printed in the book of the New Idria counsel

Mr Ingersoll for McGarrahan demanded that the original stock journal should be produced and that the committee should be informed of the services whence the scraps of paper purporting to be stock lists came

D G Wilson said a witness would be produced at the proper time to show where the paper came from

Judge Black reiterated his disclaimer of any belief in its correctness or reliability

Ingersoll—But last Saturday no exceptions were made in favor of anybody on that list.

Before examination of McGarrahan was resumed counsel for the New Idria company stated that they might hereafter desire to place in evidence in addition to the so called letter already filed some other letters to be selected from the mass of correspondence which had been informally laid before the committee

Shaw said he would object to this unless his side was first given opportunity to examine the letters They had, he said, been in possession of the company which he was prepared to prove had once made a contract for giving any amount of perjury and forgery in order to defeat the claim of McGarrahan and without careful examination of these letters it would be impossible to tell whether any interpellations or forgeries had not been committed in regard to them

The committee agreed that the desired opportunity should afforded

The examination of McGarrahan was resumed He said that at the time the land commissioners passed upon the Gomez grant adjudicating the question he had no knowledge as to who the commissioners were and at the time the court confirmed the claim in 1857 he had no personal acquaintance with the judge or any officer of the court. He had not a cent's worth of interest in it then nor did he ever know the case was before the court He subsequently became acquainted with Gomez the grantee having been introduced to him by Charles Gaylord principal proprietor of the California Hotel At the time of his purchase from Gomez he heard there was quicksilver in the land and he went there for the purpose of ascertaining whether this was true. He was accompanied by Gaylord and another gentleman They found a small racinda and some men and learned that quicksilver had been discovered at the mine He informed the parties in possession that he had purchased the property After his return to San Francisco from his property two persons separately called upon him to purchase the land one of whom was Sheppard connected as he understood with the New Idria Company and the other Mr Ray He declined to sell

Affidavits were offered to prove these facts and Senator Paddock of the committee said they received these papers for information only without approving of them The committee desired all the light they could obtain

Shaw of counsel for McGarrahan submitted papers to show that Mr Hartman was counsel for the owner under the Gomez grant

McGarrahan related at some length the action taken in law

Judge Black said he knew nothing of the New Idria company at the time He thought Gould was employed by both the government and the company

Shaw submitted a letter to show that Gould acted as counsel against McGarrahan while he was employed for the government.

It was stated the letters and documents had been purchased and a transcript of the books had been certified by the U S commissioner as correct having been compared with originals

Senator McDonald said the book was not in evidence

Judge Black was willing everything should be produced to develop all the facts

The committee then adjourned until next Saturday

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Latest on the Situation of the Eastern Question

LONDON March 16—The Times in an editorial says On Monday the Russians occupied several villages around Constantinople and took possession of a point on the edge of the most northerly plateau running down towards the entrance of the Bosphorus The small forts which command the entrance lie directly at the foot of the position thus occupied and these forts are open on the land side The Russians have power to march at any moment and close the Black Sea As our Vienna correspondent observes Such a movement does not seem calculated to dispel the apprehension maintained that though there may not be a secret treaty a tacit understanding has been established with Turkey which may involve arrangements most material to the decision of the other power It is to be presumed the terms of the treaty will provide for the evacuation of whole Roumelia and consequently any position now held near Constantinople but meanwhile Russia has established herself on the Bosphorus Not only is there nothing in recent movements of the British to justify this advance but there is little doubt it must have been adopted previous to these movements and independently of them It would have been difficult for Russia to adopt a course less likely to conciliate the good will of Europe or this country

Our correspondent at St Petersburg does not give a more cheerful report It is there said by persons of considerable influence that while it is by no means certain the congress will assemble it is not very likely to be successful if it does England and Austria are accused of being animated not by mere desire to protect their legitimate and material interests but by jealousy of the military and diplomatic success of Russia They are supposed therefore to be desirous of diminishing as far as possible the consequences of a war Russia it is stated will declare though she is willing to have such questions as that of the straits discussed the conditions she has already signed are the minimum of what she has a right and determination to demand A diminution of results of the war being thus impossible England will seek to increase them by demanding an extension of Greece but the effect of this will be to break the last link of English alliance with Turkey and the sultan will then recognize Russia as his surest ally That these wild notions should be seriously entertained by persons of authority in the Russian capital indicates a condition of mind by no means favorable to a satisfactory conclusion of the present negotiations The terms of the peace may prove an agreeable surprise but Russia is not assisting Europe to place a favorable construction upon them

Parade of Agitators

The parade of Kearneyites which has been prominently announced for the last week or two came off this afternoon The usual crowd assembled at the sand lots shortly after 12 o clock Kearney made a brief address, reporting progress, and the procession was formed and marched down Market to Kearny, Pine to Montgomery, to Second and Market, where the Oakland Workingmen were received thence the line of march was along Second to Howard to Seventh, countermarching on Howard to the Union Hotel where the literary exercises were held In point of numbers the turnout was far from the success anticipated, only about 1 750 men being in line In some respects a considerable lack of enthusiasm was manifested it has always been customary for Kearney, whenever he wanted any money, to call upon his auditors to respond, which they have heretofore done with applause and great hilarity in proportion to their means To day Kearney announced from the stand that coin was needed to defray the expenses of the demonstration, and urged his audience to take tickets for the entertainment at Union hall which was to close the day's proceedings at half a dollar per head This demand instead of eliciting the customary cheers was received with blank silence Later, when the procession arrived at Union hall and the crowd which filled the street for several blocks seemed slow to come in and pay him money Kearney appeared on the balcony and urged them to buy their tickets and come in The same ominous silence prevailed, and it would appear as though the statements which have recently been quite freely made in ward clubs that Kearney was getting away with the funds of the movement were beginning to have an effect on the rank and file of the party and a disposition being shown to know what becomes of money When the procession passed the Irish American hall where a convention of Irish societies was assembled making preparations for the celebration of St Patrick's day members of the convention were attracted to a point to witness the parade The line cheered the convention as it passed, but no response was vouchsafed It is reported that considerable ill feeling exists between the Irish societies and Kearney There is also a rumor, which is probably ill founded that Kearney will attempt to take charge of the celebration, to-morrow as he did of the Platt s hall meeting yesterday It seems hardly probable that his impudence will carry him to that extent, and if it does there is likely to be music in the air

A MOST DISORDERLY MEETING.

Meeting to Protest against the Purchase of the Water Works by the Bay City—Kearny and his Pals Break it up in a Row.

SAN FRANCISCO March 16—The meeting of citizens called at Platt's Hall this afternoon to protest against the bill now before the assembly to saddle a debt of $15 000 000 on the city for the purchase of the Spring Valley water works turned out a disgraceful fiasco The call for the meeting was signed by over 600 of the most respectable citizens, several hundred of whom gathered at the appointed time and place. It was soon evident, however that Kearney and his cohorts were present in force

Before the meeting was called to order Kearney took the stand and wanted to know who called the meeting He was interrupted and some confusion ensued which ended by Kearney leaving the platform with a promise that he should be allowed to speak after organization James Dows then called the meeting to order and nominated Monroe Ashbury for chairman A tumult ensued, some of the crowd shouting for Kearney

Ashbury on a vote, was declared elected but failed to appear and Kearney, amid great confusion, took the stand and began one of his rambling and abusive harangues, winding up by asking Am I chairman of this meeting? Yes yes cried his adherents Loring Pickering and Dr C C O Donnell then tried to speak at once, amid calls for W H L Barnes but could not be heard for yells and disorder Frank Pixley was finally chosen secretary and made a speech announcing himself opposed to the water scheme and in sympathy with Kearney He was allowed to go on without interruption, closing with the suggestion that a committee be appointed to prepare resolutions More calls for Barnes and Kearney announced that Barnes declined to speak The secretary read resolutions denouncing the Spring Valley scheme and directing senators and assemblymen to vote against that or any other scheme for the purchase of water works by the city and favoring the appointment of a commission to adjust rates, adopted

A committee was appointed to go to Sacramento to oppose the Spring Valley Company O Donnell sought to address the meeting but was refused The meeting then voted to hear Loring Pickering He reviewed the history of the Spring Valley scheme, and retired amid applause Dr Cox made a speech which was received with cheers. Senator Nunan, who has been pronounced in his opposition to the scheme in the senate, and was instrumental in calling the meeting and securing the hall, was then called out by Dr Cox. Here the fun commenced in earnest Kearney said no politician should speak at a meeting where he presided Nunan however, stepped to the front amid great confusion, and maintained his post waiting for the noise to subside. The racket became deafening, Nunan, Kearney and others all gesticulating wildly An old man named Hinds attempted to get on the platform, but was repelled by Kearney. He, however, secured a position on the stage, and while Kearney was endeavoring to make himself heard gave that orator a shove which sent him heels over head off the stage The Kearneyites made a rush for the platform. A portion of the crowd broke for the door in anticipation of a general row The police rescued Hinds from his assailants hustled him out of the hall by the rear exit and took him to the station house From this out the meeting was a pandemonium and after wild and fruitless attempts to be heard by Nunan, Kearney and one or two others the meeting finally broke up in disorder Kearney gained the street and took up the line of march for the Open Letter office followed by a cheering and whooping crowd Intensely bitter feeling prevails against Kearney and his mob for nullifying the effect of what was intended to be a dignified and respectable protest against the schemes of the water company and the opinion was expressed by many that the company were instrumental in putting up a job on the citizens by the aid of Kearney

STATE POLITICS—STATE TREASURER.

ALBANY March 15, 1878.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

As the time appointed for the holding of the respective nominating conventions draws near it is not singular that the people look with some anxiety for suitable candidates for the various state offices Among the most important of these places of high trust, soon to be filled is the position of state treasurer.

It has seemed somewhat strange that while the constitution of this state fixes the salary of that official at $800 per annum, and the statute denounces severe penalties against such officer who shall presume to loan, or in any manner use or speculate with the funds of the state the place should be so eagerly and strenuously sought after

The rumor which from a mere suspicion, has ripened into a widespread belief, that by virtue of perquisites granted by unconstitutional legislation and methods still more reprehensible, that office is now worth several thousand dollars per annum, may account for the fact that so many persons are aspiring to the custody of the state funds.

Considering the repeated violations of the constitution, sometimes called with extreme irony, the supreme law of the land, in reference to state indebtedness, salaries of officers, etc, the people are generally of the opinion that it is high time to return to the first principles of this government and let the office seek the man, instead of having the man seek the office with a greed and at a cost scarcely compatible with the honest discharge of its duties when attained.

In casting about for a man at once capable and honest, and in every way qualified to fill the responsible office of state treasurer, many of the voters of this county have turned their eyes toward our fellow citizen, Hon. Hiram Smith

As a business man of ability and undoubted integrity, Mr Smith is well and favorably known throughout the entire state. Though never an aspirant for office, the unsought nomination of his party for congressman was given him a few years since. Many Republicans who were constrained to vote against Mr Smith, or to abstain from voting at all, on account of some objectionable features in the platform on which he was running would be glad to testify their appreciation of the character of the man by giving him a cordial support at this time.

The enviable reputation for honesty and capacity which Mr Smith has earned during his long residence among us is a sufficient guarantee that if entrusted with the keys of the treasury the interests of the people would be in safe hands

AN OLD LINE REPUBLICAN.

Keely a Great Humbug.

[From the Cleveland Herald.]

Keely of "motor" fame is a hopeless bankrupt. He absorbed about $100 000 from credulous people to develop his humbug machine, which was going to supersede steam and dispense entirely with the use of fuel. He pretended that with a teacupful of water he could run a train of cars a hundred miles For over three years he lived sumptuously, drove fine horses, wore diamonds and drank champagne at the expense of the stockholders in his motor company—one of whom, by the way, was a Cleveland editor If Keely gets his deserts he will furnish motive power for breaking stone in the penitentiary.

Why Hayes Won't be Got Out.

[From the Cincinnati Commercial]

President Hayes has command of the army and navy, and possession of the treasury. He could promptly arrest for treason every congressman voting to set up a revolutionary government in opposition to his authority. The men concerned in such a traitorous intrigue would speedily find themselves where they could do no further mischief, and congress purged of their presence, would instantly resume its loyalty. In no way could the plot succeed save by a civil war waged in the interest of Mr Tilden against the awful authorities

Lamar at Home.

[From the Vicksburg Herald (Democratic)]

Although Lamar has boldly voted directly against the wishes of his people, we still have so much confidence in him that we feel like saying of him, that if Lamar is not an able, true southern statesman, there is no timber in this state of which to make one.

Bob Ingersoll boasts that he has received $20 000 as the fruits of his lecture against christianity and hell combined. The $20,000 is good, but Robert should remember that it won't buy him ice in the next world.

Of the 5,000 envelopes asking subscriptions to the Robert E. Lee monument, sent out some time ago to the citizens of Richmond, Va., only thirty-eight have been returned, containing an aggregate of $40 32

In the examination of Doorkeeper Polk, the other day, it appeared that the doorkeeper of the last Republican house performed the duties with a much smaller force than that now authorized by law.

The passage of the silver bill puts the trade dollar in a peculiar position. It weighs 420 grains and is worth but 97 cents, while the Bland dollar weighs 412½ grains and is worth 100 cents

MITCHELL'S BUNCOMBE BILL.

Another step is taken toward no railroad The sub-committee of the senate's committee on railroads has, upon Mitchell's importunity, resolved to report his bill. It is modified a good deal since first introduced, but the changes only make its terms more absurdly impossible than before. It was contrary to all reason and judgment to suppose that a bill which plainly makes a farce of the whole business could receive anybody's sanction at Washington. But probably there are senators who are led by a regard for courtesy to make the admission that the senator from Oregon, who claims to have given the subject special study and to have it much at heart, knows better than they what measures are necessary to secure a railroad for the northwest; and thus, because of his position on the committee, and his appearance as a representative from the state most interested in obtaining railway connections, they consent to propositions which, without special knowledge of the western country, they do not see are wholly fallacious. So the sub-committee sends this utterly barren bill to the full committee for a report. As many have feared from the first, the Oregon senator's position on the committee enables him to push his visionary measures to the injury of all railway prospects. There bids fair now to be an irreconcilable difference on the subject. The house committee proposes one bill; the senate sub-committee proposes another. The two are precisely antagonistic, and a further step is made toward what is called a "dead lock" in legislation. If the object is to get no road, there is a very satisfactory rate of progress toward that result.

If Oregon wanted nothing but a bill, and didn't care for a railroad, the whole state would be delighted with this report. But as there is nothing in the bill that can possibly build a mile of road, the country will not go into raptures over it. Where is the money to come from to build on this plan? From Portland to Umatilla, the most expensive part of the road, the part which is to be built first, not enough land can be sold to build two miles of two hundred; and under this bill no money can be got out of the grant even where there are good lands, except as the lands are sold by government. And sales by government will be so slow that no fund will accumulate with which to do anything.

Look at the provisions of the report in detail. The Northern Pacific is to begin at Portland within nine months, and within the first year thereafter must construct thirty-three miles toward the Cascades, and after that twenty-five miles a year on the western and seventy-five on the eastern end. Chapman must begin at Umatilla with his road within six months, and build twenty-five miles the first year, and not less than fifty miles a year thereafter, and must complete the whole within four years. For resources with which to do this both must wait till government sells the land to settlers. Is any one so absolute a simpleton as to suppose that the proceeds of sales by government will build the roads in the manner and at the rate required? Beside these conditions, so clearly and preposterously impossible, the scheme for a common road from Portland to Umatilla is, though utopian, a sane proposition. It would be an extreme tax on credulity to be required to entertain the slightest belief that any road is intended under these conditions. It is put forth merely as a good enough railroad bill till after election.

To show how utterly visionary and chimerical this proposition is, take a simple calculation. The thirty-three miles required to be built from Portland the first year would cost at a very low estimate $50,000 a mile. This would require $1,650,000. The twenty-five miles from Umatilla would cost say $30,000 a mile, or $750,000. Total money required for the first year under this bill, $2,400,000 Now the report of Secretary Sherman shows that for the last fiscal year the total receipts from sales of public lands throughout the entire United States were $976,353.68, or only two-fifths of the sum which government must realize the first year from sales within these grants in order to enable the companies to fulfill the conditions of the bill! And the climax is reached when it is remembered that between here and Umatilla not ten thousand dollars could be realized from sale of lands, because every available acre is occupied now, and for much of the way it is mountain piled on mountain, to the snowy summit of Hood on one side and of St. Helens and Adams on the other.

Besides it will be noted that the proceeds of the lands are not to go to build the roads, but are only to be paid over after sections of the road are built. Money can't be raised by mortgage on the lands with which to build. Whatever way we look, it will be seen there is no chance for anything out of this bill. It is only in the way of a practicable result.

It is highly probable isn't it, that government, which sells out of its whole domain less than one million dollars worth of land a year, will be able to sell out of these grants, and especially out of those portions of it where there is not an acre that can be disposed of, land enough to yield two and a half million dollars the first year, and double or quadruple that amount every year thereafter? It will sorely try public patience that such a scheme should be put forward. It can not possibly be accepted in good faith, but will be universally taken as an invention worthy of that sort whose custom it is to "dodge and palter in the shifts of lowness." Mr. Mitchell, if he has studied this subject, cannot expect that any road will be built on the scheme he proposes. Every additional move he makes only renders it more impossible.

GREENBACKS.

The Standard would like to have positive information as to the status of greenbacks. It wants to know whether they are money or not. This matter troubles it a good deal; because if greenbacks are not money it would be glad to know why they were forced as a legal tender; and if they are money how comes it they are not taxable? Now the facts in regard to these matters ought to be plainly stated and understood. Greenbacks, though forced as a legal tender and made to do among our own people the office of money, are not money. They are government's bills of credit, which must be redeemed with money, that is, with gold or silver. In its extremity government issued them. It had no coin and couldn't get it. No subject has given our supreme court greater trouble than the legal tender act. At first its decision was against the act; but, afterwards, when certain new members came to the bench, the decision was partly reversed. The decision, however, went only so far as to hold that the issue of legal tender notes was admissible as a war measure. The fact seems to be this: The act was one of that class which was warranted only by the supreme necessity of the country. An individual, when assailed, has a right to fight for his life with every weapon he can lay hold of. A government, which is an agent of a whole people and has a right to live if they require it, often asserts the same right; and on such occasions many things are done which would not stand in ordinary times. Just then the people, or a majority of them, were not in a mood for discussing monetary science or constitutional law. The country siezed and employed every power it could wield; and this act of issuing treasury notes and making them a legal tender was one of them. The philosophy of it is thus expressed by him through whose verse runs all wisdom:

> He that stands upon a slippery place,
> Makes nice of no vile hold to stay him up.

They who desired the success of the confederate cause were eloquent at the time with denunciation of the measure. They were sure it was unconstitutional and outrageous. Even if it were both, a government can't always stop at such a time to debate the constitutionality of measures; nor did our people on this occasion think that in fighting the confederacy and contending for the life of their government they were limited in all things to methods of undoubted constitutional validity; for they could not but observe that the confederates were somewhat outside of the constitution. We got greenbacks and the legal tender act in time of war, because what seemed an absolute necessity, springing from most exigent circumstances, required it. But though called money, they are not money, and government must redeem them with money. Whether they are constitutional as legal tender, or not, they certainly are constitutional as an issue of government's obligations to pay; and on this ground they cannot be taxed by the states. To say the least, it is somewhat inconsistent for the party which opposed and denounced them when they first appeared in that day of national agony when they seemed the country's last financial resource, to be clamoring for them now as the only proper money, and insisting on reduplication of their amount. To quote once more that fine saying of Burke's, they would make the extreme medicine of the constitution its daily bread.

A great discussion among ex-confederate generals as to why they failed at Gettysburg is going on through the Philadelphia Times. Gen. McLaws thinks it was because the cavalry was absent; Gen. Imboden because the confederate lines were extended too much; Gen. Longstreet because the confederate right did not seize the Emmettsburg road. Col. Freemantle, an English officer, says Lee should have made the final attack with his whole force instead of with Pickett's single division; and Col. Taylor of Lee's staff asserts that Longstreet and Ewell did not properly support Pickett. But Longstreet's general criticism is more to the purpose than any of these reasons. He says the battle should not have been made under the circumstances; that the true strategy for Lee was to maneuver so as to compel Meade to attack or leave his position; that had Meade attacked he would have been repulsed, and had he deserted his position without striking a blow the moral effect for the confederates would have been tremendous. It is very probable that either army attacking the other in position would have met a repulse. Lee delivered the battle and was beaten. Longstreet claims that it would have been easy to maneuver Meade out of the position or compel him to attack; and had the Emmettsburg road been seized he claims that one result or the other would surely have happened, in either way to the advantage of the confederates. But had the army of the Potomac been beaten still it would not have been destroyed; and Lee probably could not have continued long his aggressive campaign even after a victory.

A few months ago the Eugene City Guard had several very sound articles on money. It insisted that if silver should be remonetized the only sound and honest way would be to put a dollar's worth of silver in the new dollar. Party pressure, or something else, has changed all that; and now the Guard, eating its own words, denounces as "robbers" those who argued as it did only a short time ago. At the present rate of silver one may buy now in the world's market the quantity of silver in our dollar for less than ninety-two cents, for silver still declines in London and is now lower than when our silver bill was passed.

Col. Chapman decides not to build down the Columbia river himself, but proposes to make the Northern Pacific do it and then use the road. It will take about twenty-five millions to build from Columbia river to Salt Lake; and perhaps he does not feel sure of being able to control more than this just now. As first proposed the bill gave him a right to build this Columbia river division in case the Northern Pacific failed. We regret that he has relinquished the privilege, because as it is certain the N. P. will fail to construct this part of the road as required, we looked to Col. Chapman to do it.

By letter from Washington City we are informed that mail route 44,129, from Albany by Lebanon to Sweet Home, was let for $750—not $950 as heretofore reported—to A. D. Barket. We mention this fact because there has been some controversy over the matter by parties immediately interested.

The Milwaukie Sentinel thinks the motto on the silver dollar, "In God We Trust," must refer to the other eight cents.

CITY.

DRUNKEN MELEE—SHOCKINGLY BURNED.—About 3 o'clock yesterday morning a most shocking accident occurred in a small cabin situated in the extreme northern part of the city, a short distance from St. Vincent Hospital. Substantially the circumstances of this heartrending affair are as follows: In the building spoken of reside the notorious Mrs. Smaliden, her married daughter Mary and son-in-law. Saturday night a dance was given at a place known as the "Terminus," a place of low resort. Mary, the wife and daughter, attended the ball unattended by either her husband or mother. The husband, it seems, staid at the cabin during the absence of the wife, and the mother went down to a low doggery and got beastly drunk. About 3 o'clock the dance broke up and Mary returned home. Shortly after, Mrs. Smaliden came to the cabin very much intoxicated. She became very much incensed at her daughter about something and proceeded to chastise the young woman. The husband interfered in behalf of his wife. This led to a general brawl, in the course of which Mrs. Smaliden grasped a lighted lamp, which stood on the table, and was preparing to hurl it at the head of her devoted son-in-law. The man sprang forward to prevent her from throwing the lamp. He caught hold of it and a struggle ensued for its possession. During the struggle the lamp was thrown from their hands and struck the daughter, who was standing near. The collision was sufficient to cause the lamp to explode, and the burning fluid was scattered over the face and breast of the woman. In an instant her clothes were enveloped in flames, and before they could be extinguished the unfortunate young woman was horribly burned. All her clothing in front, from the waist up, was literally burned off. The skin was also burned black, and crisped like a coal. Fright and pain caused the hapless creature to utter the most piercing and heart-rending cries, which aroused the residents in that vicinity. After the flames were extinguished the woman was taken to the hospital. When she reached that institution she presented a most pitiable spectacle, her bosom, hands and face being burned shockingly, the latter being swollen beyond recognition. She was taken in charge by the kind Sisters and tenderly cared for. She is now lying at the hospital in a very precarious condition. Although very shockingly burned, the woman's injuries are not regarded as necessarily fatal. Every possible attention is being bestowed, and if the woman dies it will not be owing to want of proper medical attention or careful nursing. Mrs. Smaliden was arrested soon after the shocking affair and removed to the city jail, where she is now. There must have been a general drunken row, as the old woman received a cut on the head and the son-in-law got a black eye.

RECEPTION—NO. 1 AND NO. 3.—Last Friday evening the members of Willamette Engine Co. No. 1 held a sort of "general good time" at their house, which was keenly enjoyed by all who attended. A number of members from the various engine companies were present, and a jolly old time was experienced. There was an abundance of drinkables and eatables, to which all present did the "ample justice." Instrumental music, interspersed with songs, jokes and anecdotes, beguiled the hours, which passed rapidly away. The convivial meeting was continued until a late hour, when the gathering dispersed. Another gathering of a similar character was held last night at Columbian Engine Co. No. 3. Probably 200 persons were present during the evening, and a splendid time was experienced by all. Songs were rendered by a number, and various airs were performed on a piano which had been procured expressly for the occasion. The boys ate, drank, and, it is unnecessary to add, were merry. One of the most laughable features of the affair was the celebrated "Branigan's Band," rendered in full costume in "way up" style by Henry Griffin, Charley Mead, Charley Mills, George Maxwell and others. It was received with prolonged roars of laughter and encored. The meeting did not break up till after midnight, and the occasion will be long and pleasantly remembered by all.

ALLEGED INDECENT PROPOSALS.—Saturday a Chinaman was arrested accused of following a little girl into her house and of making indecent proposals to her. He was escorted to the city jail, but on depositing the bonds required was discharged from custody. From all the circumstances of the case there are reasons for believing that there is very little in the charge. Mr. Stott, district attorney, examined the matter pretty thoroughly and informed the police that there would be no state case entered against the Chinaman. If any charge is preferred against the Celestial at all it will be of disorderly conduct. The Chinaman is said to be connected with the firm of Coung Ye Lung & Co., and so far as is known is a respectable sort of a fellow. However, the case will be inquired into to-day.

UPPER COLUMBIA.—By referring to the advertisement of the O. S. N. Co., it will be seen that they inaugurate tri-weekly trips to Walla Walla and semi-weekly trips to Lewiston. Passengers leave Portland for Walula on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. The Monday and Friday passengers connect at Wallula with the steamer Almota, taking passengers for Lewiston and all points on Snake river. The spring rise in Snake river has made its appearance this week, and regular navigation will be practicable on that stream hereafter without difficulty.

AN OREGON BOY.—We are in receipt of the programme of the seventeenth annual commencement of the Bellevue Hospital Medical College, which came off at the Academy of Music on Thursday, February, 28, 1878. Among the list of graduates (there were 84 graduates the present year), we observe the name of Rudolph G. Ebert, a young gentleman well known in Portland. Mr. Ebert sailed from New York for Berlin, Prussia, on the 5d of March, where he expects to complete his medical course.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.—Mr. Edward Elliott, a fireman on the O. & C. railroad, met with a very painful accident last Friday. While loading wood at Aurora his foot slipped on a piece of wet bark and he fell from the engine to the track, the fall knocking him completely senseless. Upon examination it was found that his arm was badly sprained, and the probability is that two or three ribs are broken.

PROGRESS MINSTRELS.—Recently a meeting was held by the Progress Minstrel Club, when a reorganization was effected by the election of the following officers: President, P. D. Glitner; secretary, Robert Jennings; treasurer, J. H. Brenner; business manager, J. H. Sherwood; stage manager, Fred Gets. We understand that the club propose to give an entertainment about the 1st of April.

DIME SOCIABLE.—There will be a "dime sociable" given by the ladies of the Unitarian church to-morrow (Tuesday) evening at the residence of Mrs. T. L. Eliot, northeast corner of East Park and Alder streets. The friends of the church and society are invited to attend. Ice cream will be sold. There will be no admittance fee, but a dimiscal fee of one dime.

WILL PROBABLY REMAIN.—Owing to the failure so far to make settlement with the proprietors of the hotel for the money deposited with them, Mr. Jesse Shepard will probably be compelled to remain here until the next term of the circuit court. We understand he has retained Hon. Rufus Mallory and Mr. J. C. Moreland as his attorneys in the matter.

STARTED UP.—After suspending operations for a month or more to enable him to make some general repairs, Capt. Harlow has started up his box factory. His large factory is now in full operation and he is fully prepared to fill all orders. Send in your orders and the captain will attend to them on short notice.

SALOON PURCHASED.—Messrs. James Noonan and Robert Shortell have purchased the entire stock and fixtures of the saloon belonging to the estate of the late John Morgan, located at the corner of Oak and First streets. They will be pleased to see all their friends.

NEW STORE.—Mr. W. H. Cone and D. McKercher have associated together and will shortly open at 82 First street with a complete stock of books and stationery.

CITY.

DRUNKEN MELEE—SHOCKINGLY BURNED.—About 3 o'clock yesterday morning a most shocking accident occurred in a small cabin situated in the extreme northern part of the city, a short distance from St. Vincent Hospital. Substantially the circumstances of this painful affair are as follows: In the building spoken of reside the notorious Mrs. Smallden, her married daughter Mary and son-in-law. Saturday night a dance was given at a place known as the "Terminus," a place of low resort. Mary, the wife and daughter, attended the ball unattended by either her husband or mother. The husband, it seems, staid at the cabin during the absence of the wife, and the mother went down to a low doggery and got beastly drunk. About 3 o'clock the dance broke up and Mary returned home. Shortly after, Mrs. Smallden came to the cabin very much intoxicated. She became very much incensed at her daughter about something and proceeded to chastise the young woman. The husband interfered in behalf of his wife. This led to a general brawl, in the course of which Mrs. Smallden grasped a lighted lamp, which stood on the table, and was preparing to hurl it at the head of her devoted son-in-law. The man sprang forward to prevent her from throwing the lamp. He caught hold of it and a struggle ensued for its possession. During the struggle the lamp was thrown from their hands and struck the daughter, who was standing near. The collision was sufficient to cause the lamp to explode, and the burning fluid was scattered over the face and breast of the woman. In an instant her clothes were enveloped in flames, and before they could be extinguished the unfortunate young woman was horribly burned. All her clothing in front, from the waist up, was literally burned off. The skin was also burned black, and crisped like a coal. Fright and pain caused the hapless creature to utter the most piercing and heart-rending cries, which aroused the residents in that vicinity. After the flames were extinguished the woman was taken to the hospital. When she reached that institution she presented a most pitiable spectacle, her bosom, hands and face being burned shockingly, the latter being swollen beyond recognition. She was taken in charge by the kind Sisters and tenderly cared for. She is now lying at the hospital in a very precarious condition. Although very severely burned, the woman's injuries are not regarded as necessarily fatal. Every possible attention is being bestowed, and if the woman dies it will not be owing to want of proper medical attention or careful nursing. Mrs. Smallden was arrested soon after the shocking affair and removed to the city jail, where she is now. There must have been a general drunken row, as the old woman received a cut on the head and the son-in-law a black eye.

[illegible]—No. 1 AND NO. 3.—Last Friday evening the members of Willamette Engine Co. No. 1 held a sort of "general good time" at their house, which was keenly enjoyed by all who attended. A number of members of the various engine companies were present, and a jolly old time was experienced. There was an abundance of drinkables and eatables, to which all present did the proverbial justice. Instrumental music, [illegible] with songs, jokes and anecdotes, whiled away the hours, which passed rapidly. The convivial meeting was continued until a late hour when the gathering dispersed. A gathering of a similar character was held at Columbia Engine Co. No. 3. [illegible] 300 persons were present during the evening, and a splendid time was experienced. Songs were rendered by a number [illegible] airs were performed on a [illegible] had been practiced expressly for [illegible]. The boys ate, drank and, it is [illegible] were merry. One of the [illegible] features of the affair was [illegible] "Brannigan's Band," rendered [illegible] in "way up" style by [illegible] Charley Mead, Charley Mills, [illegible] and others. It was received [illegible] of laughter and encored. [illegible] did not break up till after midnight, [illegible] the occasion will be long and [illegible] remembered by all.

[illegible] PROPOSAL.—Saturday a [illegible] was arrested accused of following a [illegible] house and of making indecent proposals to her. He was escorted to [illegible] but on depositing the bonds required was discharged from custody. From the circumstances of the case there are [illegible] for believing that there is very little [illegible] E. T. Stott, district attorney, [illegible] pretty thoroughly and [illegible] the police that there would be no [illegible] against the Chinaman. If [illegible] sustained against the Celestial at [illegible] disorderly conduct. The [illegible] said to be connected with the [illegible] Yan Lung & Co., and so far as is [illegible] respectable sort of a fellow. However, [illegible] will be inquired into to-day.

UPPER COLUMBIA.—By referring to the advertisement of the O. S. N. Co., it will be seen they inaugurate tri-weekly trips to Wallula and semi-weekly trips to Lewiston. Passengers leave Portland for Wallula on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. The Monday and Friday passengers connect at Wallula with the steamer Almota, taking passengers for Lewiston and all points on Snake river. The spring rise in Snake river has made its appearance this week, and regular trips will be practicable on that stream without difficulty.

OREGON BOY.—We are in receipt of the [illegible] of the seventeenth annual commencement of the Bellevue Hospital Medical College which came off at the Academy of Music [illegible] February, 28, 1878. Among the [illegible] graduates (there were 84 graduates this year), we observe the name of [illegible] Ebert, a young gentleman well known in Portland. Mr. Ebert sailed from [illegible] for Berlin, Prussia, on the 3d of [illegible], where he expects to complete his studies.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—Mr. Edward Elliott, a [illegible] on the O. & C. railroad, met with a painful accident last Friday. While [illegible] wood at Aurora his foot slipped on a [illegible] bark and he fell from the engine [illegible] the fall knocking him completely [illegible]. Upon examination it was found [illegible] was badly sprained, and the [illegible] is that two or three ribs are broken.

PROGRESS MINSTRELS.—Recently a meeting was held by the Progress Minstrel Club, when a reorganization was effected by the election of the following officers: President, P. D. [illegible]; secretary, Robert Jennings; treasurer, J. H. [illegible]; business manager, J. H. Sherwood; stage manager, Fred Gere. We understand that the club propose to give an entertainment about the 1st of April.

DIME SOCIABLE.—There will be a "dime sociable" given by the ladies of the Unitarian church to-morrow (Tuesday) evening at the residence of Mrs. T. L. Eliot, northeast corner of [illegible] Park and Alder streets. The friends of the church and society are invited to attend. Ice cream will be sold. There will be no admittance fee, but a dismissal fee of one [illegible]

WILL PROBABLY REMAIN.—Owing to the [illegible] to make settlement with the proprietor of the hotel for the money deposited with them, Mr. Jesse Shepard will probably be compelled to remain here until the next term of the circuit court. We understand he has retained Hon. Rufus Mallory and Mr. J. C. Moreland as his attorneys in the matter.

STARTED UP.—After suspending operations for a month or more to enable him to make some general repairs, Capt. Harlow has started up his box factory. His large factory is now in full operation and he is fully prepared to fill all orders. Send in your orders and the same will attend to them on short notice.

SALOON PURCHASED.—Messrs. James Noonan and Robert Shortell have purchased the entire stock and fixtures of the saloon belonging to the estate of the late John Morgan, on the corner of Oak and First streets. They will be pleased to see all their friends.

NEW STORE.—Mr. W. H. Cone and D. Mc[illegible] have associated together and will shortly open at 91 First street with a complete stock of books and stationery.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Mr. Thomas Jackson, proprietor of the Phœnix Hotel and a grocery store located in the northern portion of the city, died suddenly Saturday afternoon of heart disease. His health for some time past had not been good, and he was told by his physician that his heart was diseased and cautioned against excitement, as it might terminate fatally. Mr. Jackson had some trouble with the workmen who were engaged in building his house Saturday morning and became very much excited. He soon after complained of feeling sick, and said he would lie down in hopes he should soon be all right. He grew worse, and his wife, becoming alarmed, sent for a physician. Before one arrived Mr. Jackson ceased to live. Coroner DeLin was notified of the event. He summoned a jury and, repairing to the place, proceeded to hold an inquest.

David P. Creswell was called and testified: Know deceased; last saw him alive about 9:30 o'clock A. M.; he came into the store and said he did not feel well, and requested me to attend to things; he then went and laid down on the bed; in a few minutes Mrs. Jackson came in and said I had better go to the hospital for a doctor, as she thought Mr. Jackson was dying; I went but could find no physician, and returned to tell her; I was then told that Mr. Jackson was dead; think it was not more than ten minutes from the time Mrs. Jackson told me to go for a doctor until I returned and found him dead; he had been unwell for some time, complaining of a pain in his heart, especially when under excitement; he was quite excited this morning on account of a man throwing up a contract for plastering his house.

Mrs. Mary Jackson testified: I am the wife of Mr. Jackson, the deceased; he has been nervous for some time; and a few days ago he went to a physician who gave him some medicine, and told him to avoid all excitement, and not use tobacco; this morning he had some trouble with some men who were working on his new house, and became quite excited; he came in and asked me to come and see if I could not do something for him, as he felt cold; I thought I saw death in his face and sent for a doctor, but in a few minutes he died.

Dr. Rex, after hearing all the testimony, gave it as his opinion that deceased had been suffering for some time from heart disease, and that his death was due to disturbance of the action of the heart, brought on by mental excitement.

The following is the verdict of the jury:

We, the undersigned, find that the name of the deceased is Thomas Jackson; that he is a native of Ireland; that his age is 40 years; that he came to his death on the morning of March 16, 1878, at his residence, in the city of Portland, and that his death resulted from disease of the heart.

Geo. C. Sears (foreman), Wm. H. Wetsell, E. St. John, Wm. L. Higgins, Geo. Tuttle, Theodore Barker.

Deceased leaves a wife, but no children. He has resided in Portland for many years, and for a long time was connected with the American Exchange hotel. He was a quiet, industrious man, and a good citizen. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the Catholic church.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

We love the memory of the brave,
The faithful and the few,
Some lie far off beyond the wave,
Some sleep in Ireland too.

All, all are gone! but still lives on,
The fame of those who died—
All true men, like you, men
Remember them with pride.

Yesterday was the anniversary of Ireland's patron saint, Patricus, or Patrick, and as such is generally observed as a national holiday by the sons of the Emerald Isle in whatever quarter of the globe they may be established, whether in the pampas of South America, the burning sands of India, the forests of Australia, or in our own free land. The day has both a national and religious character, but its principal significance is based on the fact that Patrick was the first to introduce Christianity into Ireland. By a simple illustration he converted the princes and nobles of Ireland from the mystical faith of Druidism to the living religion of the Gospel.

It is related of him that he was first a slave in Ireland, but having escaped, fled to France, thence to Rome where he was ordained as priest and sent back to Ireland to preach the true Gospel, having received the title of Patricus, or noble, hence the name Patrick. Immediately after reaching the scene of his future labors, he commenced preaching and soon had many converts, the most important of whom was St. Benarius, the most zealous follower. Hearing that the king, princes and nobles of Ireland were to assemble at Tara, with their knights and men-at-arms to hold the annual festival, knightly tilts and other sports, Patrick, with his few followers, went boldly into their presence and announced his mission. When he was questioned relative to the Trinity, and how such a paradox could exist, he plucked a tender shamrock from the ground and by it readily illustrated his assertion. The chief harper of the king spoke up and said that he must be a special messenger sent from Heaven to teach them the true religion, and he believed his utterances. All assembled at the festival, accepted immediately the new faith and were baptized. Patrick then, with a large number of followers, went to every portion of Ireland, converted persons by the thousands wherever he appeared, and thus did Christianity become established in Ireland without any bloodshed, and this in contradiction to the remainder of Europe, where it was ushered in by torrents of blood. Ere St. Patrick died he had established over 300 cathedrals and appointed over 3,000 priests. It is in honor of the conversion from paganism that the Irish celebrate the day, and that the shamrock has become a national emblem.

Yesterday was the 17th, but as it recurred on Sunday no celebration was held. To day, however, the anniversary of Ireland's patron saint will be duly observed in this city by Irishmen of all shades of politics and creeds. The following organizations will participate in the observance of the day: Emmet Guard, Portland Hibernian Benevolent Society, Ancient Order Hibernians, Father Mathew Total Abstinence Society, benevolent societies, citizens on foot and in carriages.

At 10 o'clock sharp, the procession will form on Ash street, right resting on First street, and march down Ash to Front, up Front to Stark; up Stark to First, up First to Columbia, up Columbia to Fourth, up Fourth to Mill, up Mill to St. Mary's Academy, where the pupils will perform vocal and instrumental exercises. After which the procession will re-form on Fourth street, march down Fourth to Stark, down Stark to First, down First to New Market Theater, where the oration will be delivered by John M. Gearin, after which each organization will march to their respective halls.

The officers of the day are Grand Marshal Michael Phelan; President Thomas B. McDevitt; Orator John M. Gearin, Esq. Music will be furnished by the Northwestern and St. Michael College bands. This evening the exercises of the day will conclude with a grand ball given at Turn Halle, under the management of that old and highly respected organization, the Portland Hibernian Benevolent Society. This will be the 18th annual ball given by that organization, and promises to be one of the most enjoyable social events of the season.

THE PALOUSE COUNTRY.

Part 2.

Of our interior towns, Palouse City and Colfax are the most important. Palouse City is situated sixteen miles east from Colfax, in a good locality, surrounded by an immense area of the richest farming land. Its industries are on the advance, and with present indications we may safely say that it will always be an important trading point.

Colfax, the county seat, metropolis and center of trade for all the country north of Snake river, is beautifully located in the forks of the Palouse, sixteen miles from Snake river, and possesses great advantages over any other town in this section, because of its central location, enterprising citizens and natural advantages.

OUR SOLID MEN.

John C. Davenport came to this country in the fall of 1874, with a stock of general merchandise and a full set of machinery for the first grist mill ever erected in Whitman county. Mr. Davenport was formerly a resident of Silverton, Oregon, and was always known as a useful citizen and enterprising business man. Since his arrival here, his influence has been felt in many a needed enterprise, and his untiring zeal in behalf of this community has gained for him many friends.

James Ewart is one of our pioneers, and being a man of spirit and enterprise, his seven years' sojourn among us has enabled him to assist materially in the advancement of the country. He is the senior member of the firm of J. Ewart & Co., of this place, and was at the meeting in Walla Walla last week nominated delegate to the constitutional convention for the counties of Whitman, Stevens, and Columbia jointly. Mr. Ewart is a popular man in his county, and will no doubt meet with the success in the coming campaign which he deserves.

Among our most useful citizens we will also name James A. Perkins, Gov. W. H. James, and Judge E. N. Sweet, formerly of Nebraska; F. M. Ellsworth, J. B. Upton, W. T. McKern, and Robert Ewart.

COLFAX ITEMS.

Our steam saw mill started up yesterday.

Mr. Ewart is putting up a 50x70 three story hotel.

Strangers are coming in from all parts of the union in search of homes.

Prof. Harmen, the ventriloquist, performed last night to a full house and will play again to-night.

Hawley, Dodd & Co. will build a warehouse for their business in this place next summer.

W. H. Byars, of the Roseburg Plaindealer, is spoken of as a probable candidate for state printer on the Republican ticket.

A young man 22 years of age, known as 'Squire Miller, son of James Miller, of Butte creek, Jackson county, was kicked on the head by a mule a few days ago, with fatal effect.

Thos. Pearce, of Polk, declines the nomination for the legislature, tendered him by the greenbackers of that county. He states that he is not in accord with the doctrines of that party.

Eugene City has built one of the finest school houses in the state, and now the question is whether a tax shall be levied sufficient to pay the balance due on it. Such question would scarcely seem debatable.

The evidence of prosperity in Roseburg, says the Plaindealer, is evinced by the fact that a large number of citizens are preparing to build. The latest on the list is Binger Hermann, Esq., who will immediately commence the erection of a residence on the hill near the house of Aaron Rose.

On the 25th ult., William H., son of John Palmer, of Whisky Gulch, Josephine county, started off to chop wood for a neighbor three miles distant, and has not since been heard of. It is not thought likely that the boy ran away, as he took off a good suit of clothes before starting and put on a good suit to work in. Foul play is suspected, as some of the boys of the vicinity had threatened to shoot him on sight. He was fifteen years of age.

A Gentle Hint.

In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature,—rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day—it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us, by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your house for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup or any diseases of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. German Syrup is now sold in every town and village on this continent. Sample bottles for trial, 10c; regular size, 75c.

COMMUNISTIC GREENBACKERS

WILLIAMS CREEK Josephine Co }
March 5 1878 }

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The Greenback Club of this place held a meeting last evening for the purpose of testing the sense of the club as to who shall be the Greenback presidential nominee or 1880 Among the persons voted for were Brick Pomeroy, Governor Allen, D W Voorhees General Carey and Peter Cooper Something over thirty votes were cast Brick receiving about as many votes as all the others combined It is the purpose of Greenbackers I believe to pursue his method in selecting a candidate until they have developed their strongest man who judging by the vote referred to, will certainly be M M Pomeroy The cause is certainly worthy of he leadership Brick more than any other prominent member of the movement represents the dishonesty the mendacity the hypocrisy and political vagrancy of the organization After the victory achieved by the silver monomaniacs it is now surprising to see this move gaining in celerity That they have communistic ideas with regard to the ownership of property is becoming alarmingly evident The members of this club as a commencement want the school law changed so that rich counties shall help poor counties and rich districts poor districts in providing school funds for educational purposes and he minimum quantity they are willing to put up with is one hundred and fifty dollars per annum for districts containing fifteen scholars A resolution pledging the members not to vote for anyone for the legislature who is not committed to this programme is a part of the fundamental creed of the Williams creek greenbacker Succeeding in this and with government bonds fraudulently paid off in legal tenders they have only to secure the enactment of a law allowing persons afflicted with chronic impecuniosity to help themselves out of the savings of more provident people, and the Greenback-labor reform will be reached Honest fair-minded people cannot afford to shut their eyes to the progress this deception is making Mr. I. Cunningham, the "boss Kearney" of this club, informs me that other clubs are forming throughout this county, that nearly all the prominent county officials sympathize with the movement, and that they expect the support of three-fourths of the voters at the ensuing election Rather a gloomy aspect such a statement of the case presents for old party men, but Mr C is an enthusiast, and as an enthusiast is "one who believes about four times as much as he can prove," it may be that his opinion will be liable to revision after election. If Greenbackers will force the fight, the sooner those who believe in a stable currency unite, in my opinion the better

THAT 'FAMILY QUARREL'

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

In your issue of last Monday you gave place to a card, intended as a reflection upon myself and signed 'Workingmen' The only reply that is necessary for me to make is to give the authors' names O D Buck is the chief fugleman assisted by that notorious bummer David Howell. The only injury these men can do to any cause is to be associated with it, and the few bilks that hang around them are of the same character There is always carrion where buzzards congregate. These men have no labor organization that is recognized by any club in Oregon or America

They are traitors and foreigners, and for that reason have been kicked out of fellowship with laboring men And further, we have no "family quarrel" The workingmen are a unit. Our interests are one, and we are working in harmony, as the ides of June will plainly show. These Judases were placed on the black list three months ago. Like the tail of a serpent, they are wiggling in their death struggle. Let them wiggle. Honorable men have no fellowship with them

Yours truly, A. C. EDMUNDS

His Decline and Fall.

[St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

Bob Ingersoll might profitably spend a few weeks writing a history of his own decline and fall. There is nothing of the kind more notable in American history. It is Goldsmith's little story over again—

The man recovered from the bite
The dog it was that died

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

Financial.

SATURDAY EVENING March 16, 1878.

Gold in New York, 101¼

Legal tenders in Portland—buying 97¾ selling 98½@98¾

Silver in Portland, buying 3½@4 per cent. discount.

An Eastern paper says the leaders of the silver scheme have discovered that the senate bill by recognizing special contracts in gold virtually placed it in the power of national banks to refuse to bank upon the 412½ grain dollar altogether So far as the state of New York is concerned such is the case. The New York banks, under the protection of a state act, passed in concurrence with the national act of 1875 will, no doubt, decline to bank upon such silver and they will probably change present circulation to gold note circulation under the special privilege of the national banking laws. The increasing supply of silver from the prolific mines of the west the probability of further demonetization in Europe, and the uncertainty of the demand in India which has so much effect on its value all combine to sustain the belief that silver cannot have that stability which is essential in a standard of value Gold is the standard in most countries with which we have important commercial relations. It determines the price of what we export and must be used in international payments Virtually it determines the actual exchangeable value of all commodities, compelling prices in other currencies to vary according to the fluctuations in those currencies themselves.

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, March 16.—Wool remains as dull as previously reported, transactions in fleece having been the smallest for several years Fine Ohio and Pennsylvania wools are unsalable at anything like a satisfactory price. If forced upon the market to-day, it is doubtful if XX Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces would bring over 40c but this price holders will not accept. The demand runs exclusively on low priced wool, and sales of fall Cala and unwashed territory embrace the bulk of transactions of the week. Sales of California amounted 434,000 lbs at 12@20c, and for this description there is rather better feeling. Combing and delaine fleeces quiet. Pulled wools more inquired after Sales of the week comprise Ohio No 1 X, XX and above at 42½@43½, Wisconsin 39, New Hampshire X 40, coarse fleeces 33½, combing and delaine fleece 45@52, unwashed combing 33@36, Oregon 19@30, scoured 30@60, tub washed 43@45 super and pulled 30@45 spring California 20@30c Sales of the week aggregate 1,0[illegible],200 lbs.

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and [illegible] Diseases,

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down, by disease, mentally and physically he has restored them to health and happiness for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases. Catarrh Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and chest, by an entirely new system only known to himself Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs including Spermatorrhea, Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world wide reputation by his astonishing success, not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States. Diseases of the stomach bowels, liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of and never fails to give relief at once, and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints and understands their delicate and refined organization as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health over most physicians—he can tell the patients disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual. This accounts in part for his great professional success.

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand and the patient need not fear the result will send to those living at a distance and who can not well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally and will forward the proper medicines or instruments to any part of the country with full instructions and advice Each letter requiring advice or list of questions must contain two postage stamps

WE WILL ALSO KEEP CONSTANTLY ON hand for sale an almost sure cure for Piles in their worst forms and a sure cure for Dyspepsia I defy competition on these two diseases can give almost immediate relief and cure if our directions are strictly followed To say that any human being can cure Piles and they shall never return would be more than any person outside the lunatic asylum ought to venture to assert. I do not profess to be able to do that But I do know from thirty years of my own experience and of trials of many others of both sex that my preparation has come the nearest perfection of any thing ever offered the public and in some of the most inveterate cases I cannot just now go into any lengthy propositions on the subject. I will only offer a few hints for the consideration of those troubled with this annoying disease. I hold that postponing the demands of nature to evacuate is a prolific cause most especially in towns and among persons in business say is it not next to impossible for the clerk the merchant the seamstress &c to answer nature's calls promptly? Thus soon becomes a terrible tax on nature then comes costiveness next you take drastic purges and then an avoidable consequence is you have aggravated not soothed nor healed you have neither supplied the injured parts with a lubricative a healer nor a comforter, you have left them irritated more or less to go through the same routine over and over again until you have no rest anon comes a train of diseases you don't think why you have a worried look because you have not had rest enough [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] useless suffering you undergo in the year I hold too that Dyspepsia is another great cause of Piles gulping your food helps to cause Dyspepsia. We could go on page upon page and your own common sense would convince you how much you lose a d suffer by allowing one disease to retain its hold until it has generated others I offer these hints and facts for your reflection you who suffer And we offer you cures and comforters at a price so low that every sufferer can obtain them Their use is simple and effective They cause no necessity for any suspension of your daily avocations they cause no inconvenience whatever in any way They will prove a blessing to you and you will say so but you must follow the simple directions strictly which are enclosed in every package Try them and you will be satisfied I have no long list of testimonials to offer I stand on the sterling virtues of what I offer you You will say well done when you feel the comfort after a very short trial Pile and Dyspepsia Remedies $1 25 per package each for sale at present only at my office South east corner Corbett and Potter streets Portland Office hours 10 to 12 A M 2 to 4 P M

Meeting of Cuban War Men

[illegible] YORK March 18 —Meetings of Cubans [illegible] city who opposed the ending of the [illegible] Cuba and the action of the late Cuban [illegible] of this city in resigning were held to [illegible] Several speeches were made urging that [illegible] uggle be renewed and suggesting the [illegible] out of an expedition to Cuba for the [illegible] of reviving the war A letter was [illegible] from a number of Cuban young men [illegible] 10 per cent of their weekly wages in [illegible] of the movement A committee of [illegible] appointed to select a revolutionary [illegible] ittee of five to look after Cuban interests While some revolutionary speeches [illegible] being made a loud noise like the ex[illegible] of a lamp or falling of a heavy body [illegible]ed, and the whole building shook [illegible] was a general stampede of the patriots [illegible] the wildest confusion prevailed, which [illegible] stayed in a few minutes and the meeting [illegible]ned.

Death of an Old Minister.

[illegible] March 17 —Rev John Parker a Methodist minister died to day

[illegible] Press on the McGarrahan Case.

[illegible] YORK, March 18 —The Tribune editorial says There is a deeper blackness [illegible] er before in the besmirching business [illegible] as the McGarrahan claim, but this [illegible] is one of the parties to the contest that [illegible] blackening McGarrahan s testimony, [illegible] so called history of the claim with [illegible] stock book and of 1 700 letters is all [illegible] forged, was sufficiently startling, but [illegible] prise gave place to a greater when [illegible] Black, counsel for the New Idria company admitted that those documents which [illegible] had circulated were quite unfounded. [illegible] aves McGarrahan in the curious position [illegible] protector of the reputation of congress [illegible] alive and dead, but whether that will [illegible] claim is still an open question [illegible] Times, closing one editorial says the [illegible] rahan letters procured by some means [illegible] the estate of the deceased secretary of [illegible] Noche Grand Mining Co are designed [illegible] that McGarrahan was involved in a [illegible] y of intrigue corruption and bribery in [illegible] to compass his ends If these letters are [illegible] McGarrahan is undoubted y a great [illegible] whatever may be said of validity of [illegible] im. But Black's position is not much [illegible] envied and many candid men will sym[illegible] with McGarrahan who in some of [illegible] ers just published draws Black's por[illegible] in most odious lines. An immense [illegible] of chicanery is wrapped up in the [illegible] and honest people are beginning to cry, [illegible] on both your houses

Survey of San Diego Harbor.

[illegible]SHINGTON March 18 —Some weeks ago [illegible]sentative Blair of New Hampshire, one [illegible] the most determined opponents of the [illegible] Pacific project requested the superintendent of the coast survey to order a new [illegible] of San Diego harbor The expectation [illegible] that the harbor had deteriorated in commercial value Senator Sargent's attention [illegible] called to the matter he wrote to Superintendent Patterson requesting that especial [illegible] be taken to make this survey thorough [illegible] absolutely reliable He is to day in receipt of an official communication in which [illegible]son says

[illegible] resurvey of that portion of San Diego harbor [illegible] Laplaye and New San Diego have been re[illegible] I had a comparison made between it and [illegible] survey of 1856 to ascertain what, if any, changes [illegible] taken place during the intervening 24 years [illegible] very glad to find by this comparison that [illegible] has been no change of consequence, and that [illegible] curves 6, 12 and 18 feet of the two surveys are [illegible] coincident. There has been in fact no [illegible] improvement, as the shore line and mouth [illegible] river and the 12 foot curve at some points [illegible] retrograded the portion resurveyed receiving [illegible] discharge of the San Diego river now turned, [illegible] been considered a very critical part of the [illegible] I have in a few days to receive the resurvey of the bar Yours respectfully

Private Land Bills

[illegible] senate private lands committee reported favorably upon Booth's bill authorizing [illegible] of Los Cruces rancho, comprising [illegible] square leagues in Santa Barbara county, [illegible] submit their title to the U S court for adjudication The report states that Miguel [illegible] Cordora settled on these lands in 1834 and [illegible] ived a grant for them in 1837 but the [illegible] within which the grant could be presented to the California land commission expired before his heirs ascertained that their [illegible] was not fully protected Hopkins, keeper of the archives in the California surveyor [illegible] general's office, certified that the original documents on file are sufficient to have secured [illegible] information The committee are also [illegible] reliably informed that the title has been re[illegible]ed by all adjacent settlers from the time [illegible] Cordora to the present day, and that [illegible] thing stands in the way of justice to his [illegible] except the absence of statutory authority to recognize their rights The committee [illegible] therefore recommend the passage of a bill [illegible] a slight amendment reserving any possible though unknown adverse rights

[illegible] The same committee to day reported a bill [illegible] confirm the Mesita Juana Lopez grant, embracing 42,000 acres in New Mexico

[illegible] Representative Wigginton introduced a [illegible] of Senator Booth's bill releasing the [illegible] of the United States to 38 acres near [illegible] which John Cotter it is said inadvertently conveyed to the government absolutely although he intended only to lease it
